

THE STRENGTH OF OUR PEOPLE

Making a Difference

The lively nine year old sports enthusiast was coaxed by his mother to shyly pull me aside after his appointment.

I have been involved with this boy and his family since he was nine months of age to provide therapy to improve his balance and movement, to motivate him and to build confidence in his own abilities. I have watched him grow from an engaging toddler to an active intelligent boy.

I was touched and surprised that the hero he chose to describe for his school project was me;

“She is my hero because she helps me with my disability and she makes braces for my legs.”

His unexpected appreciation inspires me to continue the work I love.

Pediatric Physical Therapist

Our Values in Action